

Letter from Gertrude McCurdy Hubbard to Alexander Graham Bell, August 25, 1875, with transcript

24 (August 25th, 1875.) (Copy) Wednesday, 6 P. M. My dear Mr. Bell:

I have but a moment to answer your letter. I give you back your promise, entirely, unreservedly. I believe your love to my Mabel to be unselfish and noble. I trust you perfectly. If you can win her love I shall feel happy in my darling's happiness.

Most sincerely yours, Gertrude M. Hubbard.
